Dear Valued Patron,

"Every day is a new beginning. Treat it that way. Stay away from what might have been, and look at what can be." Marsha Petrie Sue

There is truly something wonderful about the break of a new day, that first glimpse of morning that awakens fresh vision and hope. Similarly, this beautiful New Year, 2015 has dawned with the same sense of wonder for us all at Child Welfare Tshwane, as we eagerly anticipate, look towards and plan for all that "can be" – those infinite possibilities to serve, make a difference, empower, grow and transform. The power of Ubuntu lies in its symbiotic connectedness – as we at Child Welfare Tshwane serve our vulnerable children, families and communities, their transformation likewise flows into and merges with our own, as we likewise learn, grow and adapt at organisational level, striving always to adapt in ways that promote the highest quality of service delivery that we can, relevant and effective in meeting the vast array of needs evident in our society.

In reflecting upon the radiant sunset 2014 graced us with as it faded away, we at Child Welfare Tshwane recognise, acknowledge and affirm that every golden gleam represents you, our faithful donors, supporters, volunteers and stakeholders who, through your steadfast commitment, enabled us to shine into many lives across the communities of Tshwane. For this, we are entirely and deeply grateful to you, each one, and enormously appreciate your profound generosity of spirit.

In keeping with our commitment to you in terms of improved communication, we extend to you, each one, our warmest invitation to visit any of our projects, offices or programmes, so as to see, first-hand with your own eyes, the difference your kindness effects in our communities. Even if you would simply like to come in and chat over a cup of coffee at our offices, we would be so glad to meet with you. We value relationship, and believe in nurturing and giving back to those who so wholeheartedly give to us.

We believe that the journey through 2015 will be an exciting one, with many fabulous projects to look forward to. We welcome you to join us in walking this path, our vision fixed on continually fulfilling the mission for which we exist, namely the protection, care and strengthening of vulnerable children. Your participation with us strengthens our resolve as we know that, in the words of Helen Keller, "Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much more."

A Glimpse into 2015...

Our Caring Community

The Management, Staff and Students at Capital Hotel School, well-renowned for its excellent training and education, actively practised and lived the definition of true hospitality within the scope and realm of Child Welfare Tshwane and its work. At regular intervals throughout 2014, Child Welfare Tshwane have been privileged to attend the most beautiful events, as arranged and catered for by the School's students, all proceeds of which were to be donated to our cause.

Capital Hotel School's incredible fundraising initiative culminated on a high note on Wednesday, 10 December 2014. Child Welfare Tshwane, together with some children from the Bramley Children's Home were most honoured to be invited by the School to receive the sum of their incredible efforts, the generous value thereof having been raised by the School and its hard-working students throughout the year.

Capital Hotel School, together with all our other numerous donors, supporters and volunteers, remind us that there is yet much abundant goodness, love, and genuine care and concern for others in this oftentimes despairing world.

To you all, each one, we say: Thank You. Your wholehearted kindness not only warms our hearts and enriches our stories, but flows outwards far beyond our borders, allowing us to extend similar goodness in the communities, families and children that we serve.

"Once you choose hope, anything's possible" - Christopher Reeve
